“ There are just too many memories to share. She was unique and special. A hard worker who spoke her mind. She always had a joke or a smile ready. I remember her sunbathing outside of mom's house with that flippant look in her eye. She would play with the kids, but never shirked when there was work to be done. I never went to her house that she didn't offer me something to eat or drink. She lived her dream. She seemed to be full of laughter and joy. She and Sugar had cows and chickens and cats a plenty. She was proud of the orchard she and Sugar planted. I don't remember how much she harvested. She kept a garden, for how long I don't remember. She would scold Sugar and turn around and do as she pleased. She is joining her sisters and friends in heaven. Laughing, playing Scrabble, cards, cooking, cleaning, she was beautiful inside and out. She will be missed.

“ Always a smile on her face and a laugh that will stay with me forever,now she is with mama, nonnie, Linda and sherry singing, drinking coffee and sitting around a kitchen table. All great women I looked up to so much as I was a kid. It's not saying goodbye it's saying See you when I see you, another place another time.
